Tucked away within an exclusive private cul-de-sac of just nine newly built homes, this striking detached bungalow delivers a blend of contemporary design, energy efficiency and uninterrupted Suffolk countryside views.

This stand out property has been finished with bold black cladding and thoughtfully planted frontage creating a strong architectural presence. At the centre of the home is a superb kitchen/diner. Fitted with integrated appliances and complemented by a coordinating island, the space offers both functionality and style, with additional worktop space, storage and casual seating. There is ample room for a full dining table, making this a sociable hub of the home. Bi-fold doors open directly onto the rear garden, seamlessly connecting inside and out. A spacious dual-aspect living room provides a more relaxed setting, filled with natural light and centred around a beautifully finished fireplace with decorative oak beam, creating warmth and character in equal measure. Practicality is well considered, with a generous hallway storage cupboard featuring motion sensor lighting.

The bungalow offers three well-proportioned bedrooms. The principal bedroom benefits from a sleek en-suite shower room, while a contemporary three-piece family bathroom serves the remaining accommodation. A separate cloakroom adds further convenience for guests.

Externally, the property excels. The south-west facing garden wraps around the home, maximising both sunlight and outlook. A substantial patio provides the perfect setting for outdoor dining and entertaining, all set against uninterrupted views across open Suffolk countryside—offering a sense of space and privacy rarely found.

Further enhancing the home's appeal are modern, energy-efficient features including an air source heat pump and underfloor heating throughout, ensuring comfort, efficiency and a true 'move straight in' proposition.

Barking

Set within rolling Mid Suffolk countryside, it offers a genuine sense of space, calm, and community—yet remains remarkably well connected. The village itself is steeped in character, centred around its historic church and surrounded by open farmland, giving it that timeless Suffolk feel buyers actively seek.

For day-to-day living, nearby Needham Market and Stowmarket provide a strong mix of independent shops, cafés, supermarkets, and essential services. Both towns also offer mainline rail links into London Liverpool Street, making Barking a highly attractive option for those balancing rural living with commuting.

Road connections are equally practical, with easy access to the A14, linking Ipswich, Bury St Edmunds, and beyond. This makes travel across the region straightforward, whether for work or leisure.

What sets Barking apart is the lifestyle. It's a village where walks start from your front door, where the pace naturally slows, and where there's a real sense of belonging. For buyers seeking countryside living without isolation, it strikes that balance effortlessly.
