Steeped in character, this delightful cottage is full of original features and timeless appeal. Though some modernisation would enhance the property, it offers tremendous potential—whether as a full-time residence, a peaceful second home in the stunning Yorkshire Dales National Park, or a profitable holiday let.

A wrought iron gate welcomes you into the property, leading to a spacious open plan dining kitchen area that instantly captures the home's rustic charm, with exposed beams and traditional features throughout. To the rear, a practical utility room and wet room provide functionality—ideal for countryside living and outdoor adventures.

The sitting room is a standout feature: a warm, inviting space with large windows that let in plenty of natural light, a striking stone fireplace with an open fire, and original ceiling beams that lend an authentic, cosy cottage atmosphere. From the rear hallway, step out into a peaceful, paved garden—perfect for unwinding or entertaining—surrounded by mature shrubs and bordered by the tranquil beck that weaves through the heart of Kettlewell.

Upstairs, the generous landing—with a rear-facing window offering delightful views—leads to three good sized bedrooms. The master overlooks the picturesque village church and benefits from built-in furniture, while the other two rooms are equally characterful reflecting the home's heritage. The family bathroom is both traditionally styled and well-proportioned.

Outside, the stone façade and charming wrought iron gate create instant curb appeal. The rear garden is an enchanting, enclosed haven—low-maintenance yet full of charm—offering a quiet spot to enjoy the natural surroundings.

Set in the sought-after village of Kettlewell, Woodbine Cottage enjoys access to a close-knit community, local shop, welcoming pubs, a primary school, and regular bus services. The village hosts various events throughout the year, adding to its lively charm.
