LOCATION

Trembear Road sits on the edge of St Austell, ideally positioned for those who enjoy a balance of coastal living, countryside access, and everyday convenience. The area is particularly well suited to walkers, cyclists, and outdoor enthusiasts, with a network of nearby trails and green lanes, making it especially appealing for dog owners looking for varied routes right from the doorstep.

The town centre of St Austell offers a strong range of amenities, including a mainline railway station on the Great Western Railway network, with direct services to London Paddington. There are also well-regarded primary and secondary schools, further education colleges, a leisure centre, public library, cinema, and a broad selection of independent shops, supermarkets, and local businesses.

Road links are excellent, with easy access to the A30 trunk road, providing the principal route across Cornwall and connecting swiftly towards Devon and the wider motorway network.

A number of highly desirable destinations are close by. The historic Georgian harbour of Charlestown is just a short drive away, while the world-famous Eden Project lies within approximately seven miles. The picturesque fishing village of Mevagissey is also nearby, known for its narrow streets, working harbour, and excellent seafood restaurants.

The area is ideally placed for exploring both the north and south coasts of Cornwall. On the north coast, popular sandy beaches such as Watergate Bay and Fistral Beach offer excellent surfing, walking, and coastal scenery. The south coast provides more sheltered waters, hidden coves, and sailing-friendly beaches around St Austell Bay and the Roseland Peninsula.

The vibrant coastal town of Newquay is within easy reach and offers a lively atmosphere, a wide choice of restaurants and bars, and a popular surf culture. It is also home to Newquay Cornwall Airport, providing convenient regional flights and excellent connectivity for both domestic and European travel.

For wider employment, shopping, and cultural opportunities, the cathedral city of Truro is located approximately 15 miles away, offering a more extensive retail centre, fine dining, and regular cultural events.

To the north-west, the dramatic landscape of Bodmin Moor provides a striking contrast, with open moorland, rugged tors, and scenic walking routes, ideal for hiking and exploring Cornwall's wilder side.
