Summary of Accommodation

SITUATION

The historic & coastal town of Llantwit Major, includes Iron Age hill forts, fine Tudor buildings, a Roman villa and a medieval grange. The imposing 11th century St Illtud Church has been described as the Westminster Abbey of Wales. The town has excellent Welsh and English medium primary schools as well as a secondary school. Within the town there are a good range of shops – including two supermarkets, five reputable public houses, friendly cafes and well-established restaurants. More facilities include; a health centre, leisure centre, rugby club, football club as well as many other local sports facilities.

Llantwit Major is located on the spectacular Glamorgan Heritage Coast, the local area provides opportunities aplenty for a wide range of activities such as cycling, golf, horse riding, water sports and walking. Offering excellent transport links from Bridgend to Barry and is also within convenient driving distance of the M4 and the City of Cardiff, with Cardiff (Wales) Airport at Rhoose being approximately five miles away. There is a useful "park and ride" railway station at Llantwit Major, which provides a regular and direct service to Cardiff city centre and to Bridgend.

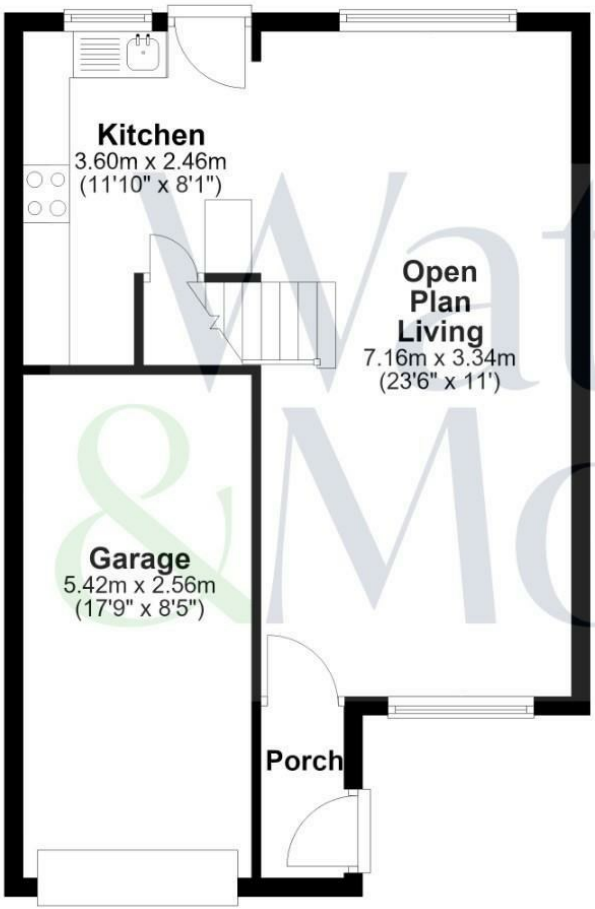

ABOUT THE PROPERTY

A useful entrance porch with quality composite door provides space for shoes, and a door leads through into the open-plan living space. The lounge/dining room features windows to the front and rear aspect which provides plenty of natural light. A central staircase leads to the first floor and an opening leads through into the kitchen, with access to the rear garden. The contemporary fitted kitchen offers a range of handleless wall and base units with an integrated electric hob and oven. A breakfast bar provides additional storage, while a walk-in under-stairs storage provides a shelved pantry area.

To the first floor, the landing provides access to all three bedrooms and the 3-piece family bathroom. There is a loft hatch with access via a pull-down ladder into the loft space. The principal bedroom enjoys rear-facing views over fields and woodland, and benefits from a range of built-in wardrobes. There is also plumbing installed should an en-suite shower room be desired. The two further spacious bedrooms have front-facing windows, and all share use of the 3-piece family bathroom.
