Summary of Accommodation

About the property

The Croft is quite an amazing property, understood to have originally been a forestry workers bungalow but transformed within the last 15 years to provide a quite superb, spacious family home ideal for families and multi-generational living - the accommodation provide a great deal of flexibility. The front driveway area leads to an entrance porch and hallway from which a staircase leads to the first floor and double doors lead to the dining room; an open archway links into the open plan kitchen/living/dining space. The living/dining space is positioned to the rear of the property with broad windows and French doors looking out over, and opening onto, a west facing graveled terrace with lawn beyond. Solid wooden floor from the hall extends throughout this area and into the kitchen space, the kitchen immediately adjoining this living space and providing a horseshoe-shaped run of bespoke handmade quality units with appliances to remain including range cooker, fully integrated dishwasher, larder fridge and freezer. Solid wooden work tops in part together with granite drainer surrounding the Belfast sink. The living space has, as a focal feature, a contemporary wood burning stove providing an additional source of heating. Double width, glazed doors lead to a more formal family lounge to the northeastern corner of the property with two sets of French doors opening to the gardens. Beyond the living-kitchen there is a extremely generous utility area together with a shelved pantry. The utility area features additional storage together with space and plumbing for a washing machine, a dryer and a second dishwasher. It opens onto a timber deck with gardens beyond, ideal for al fresco dining. The utility room links through to an integral garage. From the hallway, double doors lead to a family dining room beyond which a second set of double doors open to a second cosy multi-purpose family sitting room/home workspace/playroom. It has its own cloakroom area with a second staircase leading up to the two additional bedrooms and bathrooms.

About the property (continued)

The first floor landing area has natural light provided from a high level Velux skylight window and doors leading to four of the double bedrooms and to the family bathroom. The largest bedroom has an incredible aspect having glazed windows open to the apex of the roof with broad doors to two elevations opening onto two individual balcony areas to enjoy southerly and westerly aspects respectively. This large double bedroom has its own walk-in wardrobe together with an en suite shower room. The second double bedroom enjoys a similar aspect and also with its own dressing room. It shares a stylish 'Jack & Jill' en suite bathroom with bedroom three. Fourth bedroom is a generous double and has use of the family bathroom with double ended contemporary slipper bath and walk-in shower area. The other two double bedrooms have use of a shower room and also a bathroom.

Gardens and grounds

The settlement of Heol Y March is conveniently close to Bonvilston and within very easy striking distance of Culverhouse Cross to the east and Cowbridge to the west. It is a peaceful area. within yards of Hensol Forestry with its 225 acres of land and extensive footpath network. From its lane frontage, double width, electric gated entrance leads to a graveled parking and turning area with ample space for a number of cars; an additional gated entrance from the lane leads to a separate further graveled parking area to the rear of The Croft. Driveway itself has a central turning circle to its heart and gives access to the integral garage via an electric roller shutter door. Steps lead down to the original lawn of the foresters bungalow. Gardens surround the property to three sides from here, the original front of the property enjoying a southerly aspect but with the main living accommodation and the two principal bedrooms all enjoying a fine westerly aspect, looking out over patios and extensive lawn with woodland beyond. The well tended gardens include a graveled terraced area together with a decked dining area, ideal for alfresco living. Close to the northern side of the property is a vegetable patch.
