Location

Blyford Hall sits in a rural position along a private drive, not far from the River Blyth. The nearby village of Blyford boasts a 15th century pub, The Queens Head. The property is around three miles from Halesworth, where a good range of local shops and amenities can be found, along with the station connecting to Lowestoft and Ipswich. The A12 is within easy reach, and the Heritage Coast, with its popular resorts of Southwold and Walberswick, is just over six miles to the east.

The House

Blyford Manor sits in a wonderful position overlooking marshland and adjacent to the Blyford Hall farm buildings. The boasts high ceilings and impressive exposed timbers. The Manor is Grade II Listed and believed to date from the 16th Century. On the ground floor is an entrance hall, three reception rooms, kitchen, dining room, pantry, utility room and cloakroom. On the first floor are three bedrooms and three bathrooms. On the second floor are three further bedrooms and a bathroom.

The Manor is approached via an impressive tree lined drive, adjacent to the River Blyth. In addition to the immediate gardens, there are a number of grass paddocks between the Hall and the church.
