Morton Wood Farmhouse is a charming and characterful home set within approximately 5.2 acres, enjoying stunning countryside views, a level paddock, and a peaceful rural setting surrounded by an extensive network of footpaths and bridleways—ideal for walking, riding, and country pursuits.

Approached via a stone-paved pathway, the farmhouse opens into a light and welcoming reception hall with flagstone flooring, leading through to an inner hall that provides access to the principal living spaces. The impressive reception/dining room features a striking inglenook fireplace with an oak bressumer beam and solid fuel-burning stove, along with dual aspects overlooking the gardens and surrounding woodland. A bright conservatory, accessed via an original portico door with a glazed fanlight, opens onto the garden, while the spacious sitting room—formed from two former rooms—offers a feature Victorian cast iron fireplace. The farmhouse kitchen is well-proportioned with a range of fitted units, integrated appliances, and ample space for additional utilities, and is complemented by a separate study.

The accommodation is arranged over three floors, offering six double bedrooms in total, all retaining period features and enjoying delightful countryside views. The first floor hosts three bedrooms served by a large family bathroom with both bath and separate shower, while the second floor provides three further bedrooms—one currently used as a study—and an additional family bathroom. The property also benefits from useful storage and airing cupboards, along with access to the loft.

Externally, the gardens are predominantly laid to lawn with mature trees, well-stocked borders, and a decked seating area ideal for al fresco dining. A second, slightly elevated area includes raised beds and fruit trees, offering further versatility. The grounds extend to a superb level paddock of approximately five acres, enclosed by post and rail fencing. To the rear, a characterful red brick garage.
