THE AREA

Cottesmore Close is a quiet cul-de-sac on the highly desirable “The Chestnuts “development lying to the east of the town centre and convenient for schools, amenities and leisure facilities

Syston is a North East Leicestershire town in the Borough of Charnwood approximately 5 miles north of Leicester city centre. Earliest records dating back more than 1000 years show a settlement where modern day Syston sits named Sitestone, straddling the old Roman road known as Fosse Way.

The towns oldest building is thought to be the ancient Parish Church of St Peters and St Pauls dating back in part to the 13th Century. The town centre built around Melton Road and High lStreet has a good selection of shops, supermarkets, pubs and eateries and local schools include Merton Primary and Wreake Valley secondary schools. There are also well respected private schooling facilities within a reasonable traveling distance. Leisure facilities include The South Charnwood Leisure Centre, Beadles lakes Golf club and Watermead Country Park. There are a number of industrial sites on the outskirts of the town and a number of residential developments have spread out towards the neighbouring villages over the years.

The A46 Leicester Western by-pass opened in 2006 taking traffic around the town and providing easy access to the motorway network and around the county. Although it is largely considered a commuter- town for Leicester, much of Syston’s popularity today is due to the A46 Western By-Pass which provides easy access to Melton Mowbray, Loughborough, Nottingham and the M1/M69 motorways for those travelling further afield and with its own mainline railway station, Syston has become a viable location for people considering a base in The Midlands.
